

End of Life

End of life

Overview

This course looks at the knowledge and understanding of the key principles of caring for patients approaching the end of lives in a wide range care settings, including hospices, care homes, care in the community and primary care. End of life care provides support for people approaching death, enabling them to live their lives as well as possible until they die. You will understand Loss and Bereavement and its impact on self and others, as well as exploring good practice in supporting people during the end of life process

Course content:

The following topics are covered in this course.

- Understanding Loss: explore the experience of loss. Identify losses associated with illness and change
- Communication – responding to distress, identify key communication skills (verbal & non-verbal), consider communication skills in relation to role & responsibilities
- Impact of loss on individuals and families: consider impact on individual thoughts, feelings & behaviours
- Explore the impact on families including in bereavement
- Recognising the needs of individuals experiencing distress, recognise what the individual need, identify helpful and supportive responses

Entry Requirements:

The course is aimed at those who are looking for or just starting out in healthcare sector. It is also relevant to any health or social care worker who wishes to improve their understanding of end of life care.

Assessment:

We can deliver this course on your premises, reducing costs in respect of additional time out and travelling. Our trainer will carry out on going assessments.

Qualification

On completion of the course. All delegates will receive Certificate of Attendance

Duration of course

Depending on module

Attendance Options

Days/Evenings/Weekends